

DIS UNION.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Nigger
Worshippers' Convention.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION EFFECTED.

Mr.-Attorney General Speed Elected President.

SCENES IN THE HALL.

Grand Entrée of the Strong Minded Women in Breeches.

GIGGERS ASSIGNED BACK SEATS.

Silver Spoons Butler Makes Forward-Backward Movement.

DIS UNION AMONG THE DISUNIONISTS.

Northern Delegates to Have No Voice in the Convention.

The Negro Suffrage Question Abandoned.

Speeches of Parson Brownlow, Fred Douglass, Senator Chandler and Others.

Threatened Impeachment of President Johnson.

MIDNIGHT DEBAUCH OF THE DELEGATES.

&c. &c. &c.

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4, 1866.

THE MORNING'S PROGRESS.
The bogus Southern branch of the miscreants assembled in the Negro Minstrel Hall, on Market street, at ten o'clock. There were probably one hundred and fifty delegates present and about twice as many outsiders. By eleven o'clock, however, the new additions made it committee to the delegations arrived and took their seats. These were all Northern men, comprising adventurers from New York, Brooklyn, New Jersey, Ohio, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and other Northern States, making the full number about three hundred.

DISMAYMENT AROUND THE DELEGATES.
There was evidently a cloud hanging over a large portion of the delegates and a some became evident that those were the ultra negro suffrage men, who begin to see that they are being sold out rapidly to the expediency policy.

A PAUSE IN THE PROGRESSION.

The temporary chairman, having in measured tones called the convention to order, the proceedings were opened by prayer by Rev. Mr. Mallock, whose invocation was of the usual stereotyped stamp common to political exhorters. After the prayer there was an awkward pause, the Committee on Organization not being prepared to report.

LABORERS LABORING IN THE NEGRO VINEYARD.
During this pause Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, stepped upon the platform and entered into conversation with the temporary chairman and others, earnestly driving moderation and protesting against a radical and general suffrage for the negro. He was as much as he could be to secure the adoption of a bill to seek revenge through negro votes. These two parties will be mixed, and that is the most essential feature for the negro. If we can keep the south out of any share in the government until we initiate an opposition party there will be all right.

GOVERNOR ANDREW—AN ARTFUL DOGUE.
The Committee on Credentials then being ready to report, its secretary took the stand and read a preliminary report, which disclosed the usual doge resorted to by the enemies of freedom to cover up their sins. To the extent of the fraud imposed upon the people by the radical press. The report recommends that the convention will receive as final and conclusive the delegation from each State as to qualifications of suffrage as apply to be admitted as delegates.

GOVERNOR ANDREW—AN ARTFUL DOGUE.
That the number of delegates now entitled to admission is as follows:

Texas 15, Louisiana 12, Tennessee 21, Virginia 61, North Carolina 20, South Carolina 20, Georgia 20, Mississippi 20, Missouri 20, Arkansas 20, North Carolina 6, Maryland 60, Delaware 2, Florida 7, District of Columbia 67. Total, 420.

The Committee on Credentials, having examined the delegations of the above, declared them entitled to seats as delegates.

AN AGREEMENT OVER THE REPORT.
The excitement commenced immediately on the reading of the report, a portion of the delegations apparently being aware of the fact that they had been received among the delegations from some of the Northern States for the purpose of controlling the action of the convention.

A Mississippi delegate, having obtained the floor, was proceeding to call for the reading of the names of the delegations, when he was interrupted by loud cries of "Quieta, quieta," and much confusion and noise.

A DELEGATE FROM MISSOURI.—Mr. Chapman, I've got another Missourian here, and I want his name added to the list.

GOVERNOR ANDREW.—The name cannot be added now. We have no names. It must be decided after the Convention is permanently organized.

THE MISSOURI DELEGATE.—I move that we have no names of the delegations from the committee.

CRIES OF "NO, NO."

An Arkansas delegate had voted, however, to read the names of the delegations from each State in order, except the one to recommend the report.

THE MISSOURI DELEGATE.—I move that the report be adopted.

THE PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.
The Secretary of the Committee then announced the permanent organization.

GOVERNOR ANDREW.—The State of Kentucky.

For Vice Presidents—E. W. Bass, of Texas; Anthony Fernandez, of Louisiana; Jacob W. Field, of Mississippi; D. H. Brightman, of Alabama; Col. O. B. Hart, of Florida; Gov. W. G. Brownlow, Tennessee; Joseph H. Glidden, of Kentucky; George Prentiss, of Massachusetts; Major R. T. Davis, of Virginia; Werner A. J. Borcoman, of West Virginia; General John Gerhardt, District of Columbia; T. A. Crosswell of Maryland; A. A. C. Rogers, of Arkansas; Thomas C. G. Clegg, of Tennessee; Jacob W. Field, of Missouri; John Baker, of New York; Henry W. Davis, of Michigan; Col. Chas. H. Gil, of Kentucky; C. G. Scott, of Georgia; W. W. Wren, of North Carolina; John C. Calhoun, of South Carolina; Peter A. French, of Virginia; James W. Moore, of Florida; D. S. Davis, of the District of Columbia; John R. Morris, of Louisiana.

GOVERNOR ANDREW.—We are now prepared.

announced, great enthusiasm was manifested by the delegates opposed to the pronouncement of the doctrine of universal negro suffrage, while the ultra suffrage men at silent and sullen, but their defeat surely to hand. A subdued hissing was audible among the ap- plause.

JOHN MINOR BOAT.

When the name of Boat was announced there was much cheering, which was joined in by the negro delegates to say whether the black horse or the spotted has got the "Boots." There is a report current among the ultra negro suffrage men that he has declared himself prepared to swallow the whole negro, while the expediency side trust to his former resolutions or his present support of that half and half policy.

CONFIDENTIAL REORGANIZATION.

A very few delegates desired to inquire, before the permanent organization was complete, whether he had indeed declared that the name of Mr. Conway was announced as vice president.

THE SECRETARY.—It was an error in reading. It is Thomas B. Courtney, not Conway.

THE HOR DEGRAVE.—Oh! that's all right. But I heard the name of Mr. Conway announced, and I wanted to know.

JUDGE SAWYOR DENIES AN HONOR.

Judge of Alabama, who had been an aspirant first for president and then for vice president of the convention and who found himself in the list of candidates, rose, with an air of offended dignity, and said:

MR. CHAIRMAN—I beg to decline the honor of acting as secretary of this convention. It does not comport with my convenience to perform the duties.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

MORE DISMEMBERMENT.—ALLEGING THE FREE.

A delegate from New York, Mr. Chapman, I want to let you know that the name of L. A. Chandler, of Virginia, is on that list as a vice president.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

MORE DISMEMBERMENT.—ALLEGING THE FREE.

A delegate from New York, Mr. Chapman, I want to let you know that the name of L. A. Chandler, of Virginia, is on that list as a vice president.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them.

THE CHAPMAN.—The gentleman from Alabama must decline to act after the permanent organization has been completed.

THE SAWYOR.—Read the names of vice president and secretary from Virginia, and Mr. Chandler's, it appears to me, was not one of them